Saturday, February 10, 2018 - 10:00 to 13:00

The Southeast Regional Hub is partnering with local community leaders and educators to host an engaging festival to expose students to the fields of science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM). Exhibitors from throughout the region will spark student and parent interest with hands-on learning activities ranging from robotics and healthcare simulations to magnetism and wind energy.

This free, hands-on event is open to preK-12 children and their families.

Please note that vending machines will be available but full meals will not be available for purchase. If you are bringing a large group, we suggest that you bring sack lunches or arrange to have pizza delivered to Southeastern Community College. A cafeteria space will be available on a first come, first served basis or you may choose to sit outside depending on weather.
